

I wonder Why!

He pressed my hand, I can't tell why—
I'm sure I wonder why he did it.
And then I heard—Oh such a sigh!
As quite alarmed me for a minute.
I wonder why he pressed my hand—
I wonder why he sighed so sadly—
I'm sure if I could understand
The cause, I would remove it gladly.

He told me he had lost his heart;
And whispered something about "hope,"
I wonder why it did depart—
Or why hearts ever do elope—
I'm sure if I had heart been,
I never should have left his side,
But stayed a happy, joyous thing,
And loved the place till I had died.

I'll tell you Why.

I'll tell you why he pressed your hand;
I'll tell you why he sighed so sadly,
That you the cause may understand,
And as you say, remove it gladly.
There is within the human breast,
That seldom sleeps, a tender passion,
Love is its name, and when expressed,
Though now 'tis somewhat out of fashion,
But seldom fails to paint the cheek
Of Beauty with a crimson color;
For love right eloquent will speak,
Do what you will the flame to smother.
That your bright smiles and sparkling eye,
Like Sol, have warmed this tender feeling,
Is plain from that impassioned sigh,
That blush that dies true love concealing.

Forest Melodies.

I love the fine old forest,
That for centuries hath stood,
And waved its lofty branches
Grandly in the solitude;
Mid its glories and its graces,
A stately grandeur dwells;
And Nature's hand there traces
All her bright and magic spells.
Its shades are fall of voices,
Ever ringing joyous out,
From its trembling whispering breathings
To the storm's wild boisterous shout—
And its notes, so deeply thrilling,
From the dark recesses start,
And swell through ether, stilling
The quick beatings of the heart.
When the gorgeous robe of spring time
Hath arrayed them in its green,
And the leaves are bright with dew-drops,
Glancing in the morning's sheen,
Then its full enchanting chorus
With a rapture we have heard,
For the songs are round and o'er us,
Of each glad some forest bird.

Or when the sere of Autumn
Hath fastened on the leaf,
And clad the Summer glories
With the fading garb of grief,
One fearful strain of sorrow
Will thy songsters sadly chime,
Ere they flit on the morrow
To some far and sunny clime.

We have heard the gentle zephyrs
Stealing through the waving boughs,
With a melody entrancing,
As the maidens whispered vows,
And the storm-wind as it rushes
In its wild and mad career,
The bravest bosom hushes
To a solemn awe and fear.

E'en the frosty rain of Winter
Hath a cheerful minstrelsy,
As the ice of morning falleth
From the tall and stately tree,
And the heart can feel no power
In the poet's sweetest lay,
Like the music of the shower
In some Summer's sultry day.

Oh! I love the brave old forest,
That for centuries hath stood,
And waved its lofty branches
Grandly in the solitude!
My home is in its bosom,
Where no human foot hath trod;
My companion the wild blossom,
And my trust in Nature's God.

War and Love.

War and Love are strange companions—
War sheds blood and Love sheds tears;
War has swords and Love has darts;
War breaks heads and Love breaks hearts.

DEADLY SINS.—We see from the St. Louis Reveille, the following enumeration of Deadly Sins.

1. Refusing to take a newspaper.
2. Taking a paper and not paying for it.
3. Not advertising.
4. Advertising and not paying for it.
5. Making a printing office a loafing place.
6. Reading manuscript in the hands of the compositor.
7. Standing between the Devil and the fire, when he is distributing scripture.

AROMATIC BEER.—Take 20 drops of the oil of spruce, 20 drops winter-green, 20 drops sassafras. Pour 2 quarts of boiling water upon the oils, then add 8 quarts of cold water, 1½ pints of molasses and ¼ pint yeast. Let it stand two hours and then bottle it.

FEMALE SMOKING JUSTIFIED.—L.A. Doctor, how you talk. Suppose I should quit smoking, what should I do for excitement, seeing I have no baby to nurse.

A Boston paper says, that a printer in that city was seen with a pocket full of change. He was afraid to go by the museum, lest he should be carried in and shown as a curiosity.

Good Feelings.—We know a blunt old fellow in the State of Maine who sometimes hits the nail on the head more flat than the philosophers. He once heard a man much praised for his "good feelings." Everybody joined and said the man was possessed of excellent feelings.

"What has he done?" asked our old genius.

"Oh! in every thing he is a man of fine benevolent feelings," was the reply.

"What has he done?" cried the old fellow again.

By this time the company thought it necessary to show some of their favorite's doings. They began to cast about in their minds, but the old man still shouted, "what has he done?" They owned that they could not name any thing in particular.

"Yet," answered the cynic, "you say that the man has good feelings—fine feelings—benevolent feelings. Now, gentlemen, let me tell you that there are people in this world who get a good name simply on account of their feelings. You cannot tell one generous action that they ever performed in their lives, but they can look and talk most benevolently. I know a man in this town that you would call a surly, tough and unamiable man, and yet he has done more acts of kindness in this country than all of you put together. You may judge people's actions by their feelings, but I judge people's feelings by their actions."

A GUANO MUMMY.—In the recent excavation at Ichaboe, a mummy was found, which was brought to England. The body is that of a full grown man, enclosed in a coffin which is yet perfectly entire, as also the trousers and shirt of the deceased the former of duck and the latter of cotton, both of which, on being tried, retained all the strength of the new fabric. The body itself, says an account in an English paper, seems as if it were tanned leather; the flesh has become, in a great measure absorbed with all the softer animal tissues; but the muscular development remains firm, and the veins and tendons of the extremities are curiously shown stretched over the bones. The teeth are still white and sound; and the hair still curls on the head. The color of the body is a dark brown, and the whole exhibition is an interesting one. It is supposed to have been the mate of a ship, buried there more than a century ago, as some records prove. [Saturday Post.]

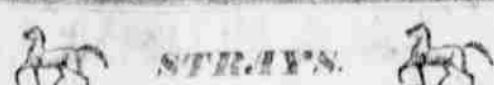

A Swimming Feat.—The Sandwich Islands Friend, of October 1st, gives a remarkable account of a swim lately affected in those waters. It runs thus:

On the 28th of Sept., Stephen Dresser, who belongs to Portland, Me., was taken on board the whale-ship New Bedford, in the harbor of Honolulu. He reports that on the evening of the 26th, he jumped overboard from the London Packet, having taken from the Captain's boat his new life-preserver. On Saturday morning he could just discern the loom of the mountains of Oahu. After swimming all day, at the firing of the 9 o'clock gun he was abreast of the two men-of-war in the outer harbor—after getting upon the reef he tried to walk, but the surf and waves dashed him along, and at the time of being picked up was nearly insensible—having been in the water thirty or more hours! He reports that he left the London Packet on account of ill usage, and that the crew were disorderly.

MAIL ROUTE TO OREGON.—The committee on the Post Office and Post Roads in the Senate of the United States have reported in favor of establishing a mail route to the Oregon Territory. The American population in Oregon is estimated at ten thousand; of the number employed in the service of the Hudson's Bay Company we have no estimate. It is believed, says the Baltimore American, to be due to the ten thousand Americans in Oregon that they should have the facilities of communication and correspondence with their friends and relatives on this side of the Rocky Mountains.

THE GIANT SKELETON.—A writer in Silliman's Journal, Dr. Wm. M. Carpenter, Professor in the Medical College of Louisiana, having critically examined the skeleton found in Williamson co., and supposed by some to belong to the human family, declares it to be composed "entirely of the bones of a young Mastodon and pieces of wood—with the exception of the cranium, which is made out of raw hide, which is much more becoming to the animal in his new capacity than the old one would have been."

A Yankee has invented a drilling machine. It is said it will not only drill iron, tin, rock and wood, but it is also useful in drilling military companies!

Kosciusko, January, 1846

PROSPECTUS

For publishing in the town of Kosciusko, Attala county, Mi., a weekly newspaper, to be entitled the

KOSCIUSKO CHRONICLE.

The United States of America is a great country—the State of Mississippi a great State—the county of Attala a great county—and the Town of Kosciusko, no doubt, would be a great Town, was it not for the simple facts that the seat of government has not yet been removed to said town—that Big Black has not yet been cleared out, so that steam-boats can navigate it up to a point opposite said town—that the Jackson Railroad has not yet been extended on, through Canton, to said town—and more particularly, that at this time there is no newspaper published in said town, through which these projects can be laid before this great people. Now, it is a well established fact, beyond the point of contradiction, that we are a great people who live in this great country—State—county—and that we expect great works to be accomplished some time or other, by somebody or other, or somebody else, and that Kosciusko would be a great place if these great improvements were but just completed, thereby bringing it, as it were, within a stone's throw of the East Indies, Australia, China, Siberia, Greenland, Kamtschatka and the North Pole.

Therefore, be it known to all men, women, children and grasshoppers, that the subscriber, in order to facilitate these great undertakings, and prevent their being up ped in the bud, and more particularly to turn an honest penny for himself, proposes to commence the publication of a little newspaper in said town, on Saturday, the third day of January, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and forty six, to be styled the Kosciusko Chronicle, and to continue to publish said paper weekly, until these great objects shall be accomplished, should the Lord be pleased to spare his life so long, and he be willing to continue in the business that long; and if not him, then to have it done by somebody else after him. The subscriber being a strong believer in the doctrines promulgated by the immaculate Harry of the West and the Godlike Daniel of the East, it might be surmised by the knowing ones that the paper will be whiggishly inclined; but be this as it may, he will not at this time contradict it.

TERMS.—Two Dollars per annum in advance.
